

ECONOMIST (POLICY AND STRATEGY UNIT)

Posted on 15/04/2024

The role

The Economist within the Policy and Strategy Unit (PSU) will bring strong economic analytic and policy assessment expertise to Prospera's support to the Government of Indonesia and work with stakeholders across Prospera. You will possess skills in macro and microeconomics, quantitative data analysis, research, and public policy. You are a critical thinker who can present policy solutions in a complex economic and political landscape. You will provide technical input and review proposals providing a critical lense, quality assurance, and policy analysis to ensure relevance, consistency and alignment across Propera's broader strategic direction. Your role will complement the team, being agile at problem-solving, distilling evidence and communicating policy reforms. The ideal candidate for this position will show versatility in economic analysis, advanced visual presentation and communication skills, and enjoy working cooperatively.
